

Lexico-grammatical organization of English title text (in Russian and English languages)

Graduation qualifying thesis from:

Pyatigorsk State University

Institute of International Service, Tourism and Foreign Languages

Faculty of English and Romance languages

Chair of the Experimental Linguistics and Intercultural Competence

Author: Potapova Olga

Main parts: Contents, Introduction, two Chapters, Conclusion and Bibliography.

Keywords: header, lexico-grammatical organization, the English text

Abstract:

The object of this research is lexical and grammatical features of headlines in English literature.

The introduction reveals the relevance of the study in the selected direction. It also indicates the methodological basis of the research, its theoretical and practical significance.

The first chapter examines the concept and the origin of lexical and grammatical organization of the header, types and functions of titles in the English-language texts and genre characteristics of the English-language title of the text.

The second chapter is devoted to the study of lexical and grammatical content of structural models of English titles.

Conclusion is devoted to the issue of the titles. One of the important and widely developed linguistic themes is that researchers examine the headers in the framework of private issues, and include it in the broader context of the philosophy of language.