

Summary

Subject matter: Management in the sphere of realization of the state youth policy at the local level on the example of the organs of local government of health resort Kislovodsk.

Author: Sytnikova Maria Vyacheslavovna.

Supervisor of studies: M.A. Astvatsaturova, doctor of political science, professor, chair of the creative innovative management and law.

Customer organization: Municipal budgetary organization “Youth center” in Kislovodsk.

Topicality of the research: In the 21st century the youth will be playing an important role in the solution of the tasks of further democratization and modernization of the Russian society. So the development of the potential of the young people is essentially the investment in the future of the country.

Objective of the research: the generalization of the process of management in the sphere of the realization of the state youth policy at the local level (on the example of the organs of local government of health resort Kislovodsk).

Tasks: 1. to specify the theoretical essence and content of the notion “management”; 2. to consider the normative – legal principles of management at the local level in the RF; 3. to master the structure of the organs of local government of health resort Kislovodsk; 4. to generalize the practice of the organs of local government in Kislovodsk of the solution of the social problems of the youth; 5. to develop the author’s project target at the improvement of the effectiveness of the youth policy in Kislovodsk.

Theoretical and practical significance of the research: is determined by the integration of the science of management into the research on the realization of the approaches of management science to the state youth policy topical conceptions and management theories, democratic and civil involvement, evolution of the national political system, realization of the youth policy, political and administrative and organizational and administrative work of the organs of local government. Practical significance of the research is the development and possibilities of some generalizations of the efficient and effective model of youth policy.

Results of the research:

We achieved all the goals set, and namely: specified the theoretical essence and content of the notion “management”, examined the normative and legal principles of management at the local level in the RF, and mastered the structure of the organs of local government in Kislovodsk. We established that the organs of local government in Kislovodsk carry out target management in the sphere of youth problems, for which purpose the Administration set up the Board for youth affairs.

Recommendations:

1. to improve the effectiveness of management in the sphere of realization of youth policy at the local level;
2. to intensify the activities of the Center for the pastime of the young people;
3. to get more young people involved in the realization of the youth policy to unleash their creative potential.