SUMMARY
Final qualifying work on theme: "Conflicts in the process of integrating persons with disabilities into society"
The author: Doroshev Vitaly Viktorovich
P. 81, bibliographer. 63.

Key words: disabled person, person with disabilities, conflict-generating factors of adaptation of persons with disabilities, integration of people with disabilities, conflict situation.

The relevance of the research topic. The relevance of this topic lies in the fact that integration of persons with disabilities in society is hard-going, sometimes tragically. Almost all of the interviewed disabled people regularly facing rude treatment in hospitals, clinics, transport. People are irritated at the slowness of persons with disabilities, their physical limitations and capabilities. Very frequently violated rights in relation to people with intellectual disabilities. Persons with disabilities who face unfair treatment of the society to themselves, turn in on themselves, afraid once again to appear in public places, suffer from isolation and rudeness of others. All this leads to increased conflict in the environment where he lives disabled, and a deep inner experiences of people with disabilities who are accompanied by intrapersonal conflict.

The presence of conflict in the integration of persons with disabilities in the society speaks about the importance of minimizing communication, psychological and other interference that prevent people with special health considerations actively integrate into society and fully participate in it, to exist without conflict with oneself and with others.

The purpose and objectives of the study. Goal – to develop trainings conflict resolution integration of persons with disabilities into society.

The realization of this objective involves the formulation and solution of the following tasks:
- to distinguish the concepts of "disability" and "person with disabilities";
- to identify conflict-generating factors of adaptation of persons with disabilities in society;
- to study the characteristics of conflict resolution in the integration of persons with disabilities into society;
- to develop trainings for the prevention of conflict integration of persons with disabilities into society.

Theoretical and practical significance of the research is that its findings create theoretical base for further study of ways to prevent conflicts in the process of integrating persons with disabilities into society; materials and conclusions of the work can be used as guidelines in the work adaptation and psychological assistance centres for disabled persons and persons with disabilities. The research materials can be used in the educational process of universities in teaching of disciplines of "Conflict".

The results of the study.
The differentiation of the concepts "disability" and "person with disabilities";
identified conflict-generating factors of adaptation of persons with disabilities in society;
studied the characteristics of conflict resolution in the integration of persons with disabilities into society;
developed training for the prevention of conflict integration of persons with disabilities into society.

Recommendations.

1. Training "achieving the dream is real" is intended for persons with disabilities and professionals directly working with persons with disabilities. In circumstances where the disabled person feels an uncomfortable seat, or, indeed, his world seems conflicted and hostile, you need to know effective technique to protect their rights. The training also focused on the role of experts, working directly with the disabled, helping the defenders of their rights to achieve what they want in life. Persons with disabilities need to know what the protection of their rights; professionals must learn to identify the stages of creating a plan for the protection of their rights; to teach the skills necessary for successful psychological defense in an uncomfortable seat; studied the use of negotiations as a means of protection.

2. Great importance for the disabled is training "Stress management", as often at work play a crucial role in the compatibility and incompatibility of people. Compatibility implies a mutual recognition of the partners in dialogue and group activities. Incompatibility can be called mutual aversion (antipathy) partners, which is based on the mismatch (resistance) settings, Hobbies, causes, characters, temperaments, physical reactions, and personal psychological characteristics of subjects.

3. Training "self-assessment" or "Learning to live a full life." tree training is the training of disabled persons and persons assisting them, to how disabled people learn to live a full and meaningful life. The training examines the concept of self-determination; determined the skills necessary for independent decision-making; to create a positive life plan.

4. Training "How to live an independent life" or "Believe in yourself!". The aim of the training in conjunction with disabled people to explore the concept of independent living, to identify the means used, to make it clear to disabled people that it is possible to live an independent life to the maximum extent, if at that endeavor. The training process examines three key characteristics of autonomy: 1. What degree of control the people have in various areas of life. 2. The man decides that he wants to control in this area of life. 3. How important is man management of each area. The training examines important components of an independent lifestyle, produces the skill of applying ideas of independent life for yourself and the people around.