

Summary

Subject matter: Managing the process of political socialization of the youth (based on the example of Pyatigorsk Administration).

Author: Vilyeva Marina Valerievna

Supervisor of studies: Astvatsaturova M.A., doctor of political science, professor.

Customer organization: Municipal Budget Institution of Pyatigorsk Administration “Centre of the realization of the youth projects and programmes”.

Topicality of the research: Managing the process of political socialization of the youth is one of the most acute problems in the current situation. A lot of attention is paid to this problem from the point of view of management. Besides, it can be mentioned, that different aspects of managing the process of political socialization of the youth in the Russian Federation are not studied well enough. Managing the process of political socialization of the youth is an important condition of organizing the life of the society. In this regard managing the process of political socialization of the youth as the demographic, social, political, labour and human resource is of the special importance as the factor of the political process.

Objective of the research: the consolidation of the subject matter and forms of managing the process of political socialization of the youth in modern Russia.

Tasks:

- To determine the essence, subject matter and forms of political socialization of the youth in the RF.
- To study the regulatory and organizational-executory bases of managing the process of political socialization of the youth in the RF.
- To consolidate the systems and structures of the local authorities of the administrative centre of the North Caucasian Federal District – Pyatigorsk – in the process of managing political socialization of the youth.
- To get acquainted with the forms and methods of management of political socialization of the youth of Pyatigorsk Administration.

- To identify political socialization of the youth of the centre of the North Caucasian Federal District – Pyatigorsk – in the framework of the activities of non-governmental organizations.

- To develop the project on managing political socialization of the youth.

The object of the research: the process of managing political socialization of the youth in modern Russia.

The subject of the research: subject-matter, principles, forms and methods of the management of political socialization of the youth of Pyatigorsk Administration.

Results of the research: in the research all the managerial, theoretical and practical material is studied with the maximum possible comprehensiveness, is carefully analyzed and consolidated. All this allowed to formulate a number of conclusions, which develop the existing theoretical knowledge about managing the process of political socialization of the youth, and also the knowledge about the role and place of managing the process of political socialization of the youth in Russia at the current stage

Recommendations:

- to involve the youth in the law-making process and in determining the major directions of the youth policy;

- to develop and approve of the comprehensive and directed youth programmes;

- to consider the problems of the youth when devising the forecasts and plans of the economic and socio-cultural development of the territories;

- to assist by different means in developing the international youth relationships.