

Summary

Subject matter: Organizational and methodological set of tools of the provision of an organization's economic security (on the example of "Ptitsekombinat", ltd.).

Author: A.I. Khanukaev.

Supervisor of studies: I.V. Shevchenko, candidate of economics, associate professor, chair of economics, management and finance.

Customer organization: Nevinnomyssk, 10, Matrosova st., "Ptitsekombinat", ltd.

Topicality of the research: The development of an organization in the modern economic conditions is impossible without taking into account and eliminating the influence of the internal and external threats to its economic security. It is connected with the fact that its operation is under the influence of a multitude of factors that should be systematized and taken into consideration in the course of the complex assessment of the level of economic security. In this connection the development of the organizational and methodological set of tools of the assessment and provision of an organization's economic security becomes topical.

Objective of the research is the examination of the determinants of the system of an organization's economic security from the positions of the structural approach and the development of the set of tools of its provision.

In conformity with the objective the following tasks are set:

- to reveal the notion and essence of an organization's economic security;
- to determine the composition and structure of the key determinants of an organization's system of economic security;
- to work out a set of methods of the assessment of an organization's micro-level of economic security;
- to offer a methodological set of tools of the assessment of the determinants of the macro- and mezo- levels in the system of economic security;
- to carry out a complex assessment of "Ptitsekombinat", ltd.'s economic security on the basis of the developed set of tools;

- from the position of the differential approach to propose an algorithm of the selection of the set of tools of the provision of “Ptitsekombinat”, Ltd.’s economic security.

Theoretical and practical significance of the research is that the results obtained clarify and supplement the existing theoretical and methodological apparatus of the assessment of an organization’s economic security, besides the idea of the system of economic security as a total of the determinants of the economic security of the macro-, mezo- and micro-levels of management is formed.

Practical significance of the paper consists in the possible use of the submitted recommendations for the purpose of the improvement of a modern organization’s economic security.

Results of the research lie in the formation of the idea of an organization’s system of economic security and development of the methodological set of tools of a complex assessment of its level, and also the formation of the mechanism of the selection of a differential organizational set of tools for eliminating of the detected threats.

Recommendations: Practical recommendations connected with the development of the set of tools for eliminating the threats to an organization’s economic security are aprobated in the work of “Ptitsekombinat”, Ltd., which is confirmed in a document form.

The use of the developed set of methods will enable a modern Russian organization to ensure in the long term its operation on the basis of the improvement of the system of economic security.