Topicality of the research is conditioned by the emergence of the outdated forms of children's health improvement in comparison with the Soviet period which led to the problems of its development. One of the important and complicated is specialists working with children in health-improvement organizations. At present the relation of the staff potential of the system of rest and health improvement is solved by means of the development of the state-public system of staff re-training, however there is a shortage of such specialists.

Objective of the research is to develop the theoretical aspects of the work of the bodies of local governance in the field of the organization of summer rest and health improvement of young citizens, and also to formulate methodological recommendations on its improvement.

Tasks:

1. to systematize the information on the types of organizations of children's rest and health improvement, and also on the economic and administrative aspects of their functioning;

2. to specify the meaning and content of the normative-legal basis, regulating the organization of the summer rest and health improvement of young citizens;

3. to summarize the experience of Russia's municipal formations in the field of the organization of summer rest and health improvement of young citizens;

4. to carry out the analysis of the economic and administrative indicators of the performance of Krasnodar administration in the field of the organization of summer rest and health improvement of citizens;

5. to characterize the performance of “Dubrava” MBO RC as the subject in charge of the organization of summer rest and health improvement of young citizens of Krasnodar by having identified the most complicated problems of its functioning and development;

6. to develop recommendations on the improvement of the performance of “Dubrava” MBO RC.

Theoretical and practical significance of the results of the research is that the exploration of this problem enables one to summarize the experience of the work of the children-youth camps that are the property of the municipal formations of the Russian Federation, to detect the drawbacks in the provision of their activity and offering of health-improvement and recreational services to young citizens during their stay in the camp both in the economic and administrative and legal aspects.

The algorithms and concept of the work of the School of leaders developed within a framework of the research, can be fully realized on the basis of the youth recreation camp “Dubrava” , used as the pre-diploma practice base.

Results of the research: We have:

- systematized the information on the types of organizations of children’s test and health improvement, and also on the economic and administrative aspects of their functioning;
- studied the composition and content of the normative and legal basis, generalized the experience of Russia’s municipal formations in the field of the organization of summer rest and health improvement of young citizens;
- conducted the analysis of the economic and administrative indicators of the performance of Krasnodar administration in the field of the organization of summer rest and health improvement of young citizens;
- characterized the performance of “Dubrava” MBO RC as the subject in charge of the organization of summer rest and health improvement of the young citizens of Krasnodar, detected the most complicated problems of its functioning and development;

– developed recommendations on the improvement of the performance of “Dubrava” MBO RC.

Recommendations. We have developed the main directions of the improvement of the quality of personnel training and search for specialists to work in “Dubrava” within a framework of the training program “School for Leaders” that vertically expands its activity both from the organization to the administrative apparatus and horizontally at the regional level. The outcome of the realization of the program is the elimination of the shortage of skilled staff for the work with children in “Dubrava”. In our view, this is a convenient model for the realization of the targeted plans of the building, use and development of personnel.
