Summary

The topic of the graduate work: The Development of the Institute of Customs Representatives in the Russian Federation

The author: Unachev Anzor Khusenovich

The scientific adviser: Candidate of Juridical Sciences, Assoc. Prof Kobysheva Elena Ivanovna

Information about the customer organization: Regional Branch of the LLC "VED South", Mineralnye Vody.

Topicality: Formation of the institute of customs representatives takes place in the conditions of dynamically developing customs business, improvement of customs procedures, information technologies. In this connection, organizational and legal measures are coming to the forefront in the work of customs bodies with a view to strengthening control over the activities of customs representatives and compliance with the requirements of customs legislation.

Objective of the research: to carry out a complex analysis of the institute of customs representatives in the Russian Federation, to identify emerging theoretical and practical problems related to their implementation and evaluation and to develop solutions for these problems.

Aims:

- to review the history of the establishment and development of the institution of mediation and representation in custom service;
- to study the classification of sources of administrative and legal regulation of the activities of customs representatives;
- to analyze the legal status of customs representatives;
- to assess the organization of the activities of the customs representative - Regional Branch of the LLC "VED South", Mineralnye Vody;
- to research the key institutional problems of the activities of customs representatives;
- to identify the main aspects for improving the institution of customs representatives in the Russian Federation.
The object of the study is the complex of public relations that define the development of the institution of customs representatives in the Russian Federation.

The subject of the study is the modern paradigm of functions and responsibilities of customs representatives.

Theoretical and practical significance: the findings and suggestions formulated in the work concerning the development of the institute of customs representatives in the Russian Federation could be used in the further scientific development of the named issue.

The results of the research and recommendations:

Key institutional problems of the activities of customs representatives are the following:

- Lack of transparency of customs administration and multivariate interpretations of a significant part of provisions of a regulatory and legal nature;
- Forcible nature of the customs in making decisions, variations in the practice of law enforcement;
- Problems related to corruption and bureaucracy;
- Complications in the legislation of the Russian Federation - there are no unambiguous interpretations, the customs regulatory and legal framework is ambiguous and confusing, contrary to departmental by-laws.