ABSTRACT

Subject matter: Borrowings in English and Methods of Translating Them into Russian.

Author: Eduard N. Ishchenko, 4th year student, Institute of Translatology and Multilanguage Studies.

Supervisor of the project: N. V. Karatseva, Lecturer of the Chair of Theory and Practice of Translation and Interpretation.

Information about the sponsor organization: Pyatigorsk State Linguistic University; 9 Kalinin St., Pyatigorsk, Stavropol krai.

This research deals with the borrowing of foreign words. It is one of the main ways of word formation in English.

The subject of the study are loan words in the English language.

As the object of research supports the process of borrowing in the language at different stages of their appearance in the English language and the ways of their transfer into the Russian language.

The research is to examine the emergence of borrowings in the English language, the reasons for borrowing, the classification of loans, as well as their assimilation into English, and particularly their translation into Russian.

Results of the research: the English language and, in particular, its lexicon, was greatly influenced by many European languages (including Russian), as well as some Asian languages.

But the English language does not lose its identity, having absorbed all the most specific and rich sense of the word.
