Abstract

Graduation Level of Proficiency Project (Specialist’s degree)

Title: THE CONCEPT OF “WORK” AND ITS ETHNO-CULTURAL PECULIARITIES IN THE ENGLISH AND KABARDINO-CIRCASSIAN LANGUAGES

Author: Madina Khamova, Group 502

Academic Advisor: Lola Aslanovna Kaufova, Cand. Sci.(Philology), Assoc. Prof. of Chair of Experimental Linguistics and Intercultural Competence

Graduation Qualification Paper from: Pyatigorsk State Linguistic University

Institute of International Service, Tourism and Foreign Languages

Chair of Experimental Linguistics and Intercultural Competence

Topical Importance: is determined by the fact that the results of this research will permit to acquaint with the culture and mentality of the two peoples and promote the full development of paradigm of speech etiquette in the specifically linguistic and typological aspects.

Goal: to analyse and compare English and Kabardino-Circassion proverbs, implementing the concept of “work”.

Tasks: to analyse and summarize the available information and give a description of the notion “concept”; to reveal the specific features of the concept of “work” in Kabardino-Circassian and English language cultures; to investigate the notion of “proverbs” and “sayings”; to conduct a comparative analysis of realization of the concept of “work” in English and Kabardian Proverbs and sayings.

Theoretical value and practical applicability: a detailed study of realization of the concept of “work” in English and Kabardian Proverbs and sayings will help to understand better the mentality of the folks – native speakers of the two languages with different systems, which will facilitate mutual understanding between peoples.

Results: The results of this paper include theoretical information about the notion of the concept and its structure, the main notions of Proverbs and sayings, the concept of «work» in English and Kabardian proverbial pictures of the world and the comparative analysis of English and Kabardian Proverbs and sayings, implementing the concept of «work».