Subject matter: «Lexical and Grammatical Peculiarities of the title of English Literary Works»

Author: Mogushkova Hava Tamerlanovna

Scientific supervisor: Lebedeva M. B.

Information about the sponsor organization: Pyatigorsk State Linguistic University; 9 Kalinin St., Pyatigorsk, Stavropol krai.

Research relevance: the title defines to certain extent the success of any literary work, the more expressive the title is, the more efficient the reader understands it. That is why it is necessary to investigate questions connected with the composing and functioning of titles.

Purpose: to describe the significant features of titles of English literary works and analyze their grammatical structure, lexical and semantic peculiarities as well as functions.

Tasks: to give the definition to the title and to describe its main features and functions, to classify titles according to structural and semantic principle

Theoretical and practical significance: is in complex approach towards the study of titles that enables the researcher to reveal the mechanism of their composing and perception and to understand the connections with the text.

Results of the research: the title presents concentrated ideas which later will be developed into a full text, the title is closely connected with the text and has different levels of interrelation with it. The title has different structure which is reflected in its semantics and different functions such as nominative, informative, retrospective, descriptive, attractive.